THE WHALE HOUSE: AND OTHER STORIES BY SHARON MILLAR PDF

A boy is killed on a government minister's orders as part of his mission to clean up the country and others made complicit must explore their consciences; a youth gets ready to play his role in the country's lucrative kidnap business; a sister tries to make peace with the parents of the white American girl her brother has murdered; a gangster makes his posthumous lament. Trinidad in all its social tumult is ever present in these stories, which range across the country's different ethnic communities, across rural and urban settings, from locals and expatriates to the moneyed elite and the poor scrabbling for survival. What ties the collection together is Sharon Millar's achievement of a distinctively personal voice: cool, unsentimental and empathetic. If irony is the only way to inscribe contemporary Trinidad, there is also room for both generous humor and the possibility of redemption.

Wonderfully different collection of short stories

By Ghislaine A. Agostini

Lovely collection of short stories and that are often woven together. It shows Trinidad in all rawness without the need to appear a book written only for the Caribbean following. Regardless of ethnicity, culture and social status we all suffer the same problems.

Life in an industrialized Caribbean island, good and bad, as told through a collection of short stories.

By Richard

Enjoyable reading for anyone who wants to sample authentic flavours of various aspects of West Indian society. The stories paint vivid images of lifestyles and landscapes in the Caribbean.

Tropical Gothic

By Annie Paul

Sharon Millar is an exciting new voice from the Caribbean. Her writing is crisp and clean, layered with nuance and detail, a kind of tropical Gothic. Highly recommend.
